

e→entra

EVENTRA is a full-service event management agency. We organize turnkey business forums, conferences and meetings, corporate events, road shows, ceremonies and gala parties, cultural events, product launches, media campaigns and press conferences.

Our clients are a business community that needs professional support when organizing congresses, conferences, exhibitions, receptions, B2B meetings and other business or private events.

With our services, we cover customers' needs in logistics and technical management of events!

We provide your event with an informative, creative and visual component. It is concept development, scripting and timing. This is the development of design packages for event design, printing, souvenir and related products.

Development, design and production of exhibition stands, designs and scenery. Photo and video recording, online broadcasting, editing, sounding, mastering, computer graphics, video design and post-production.

Support your event through creation web-resources, as well as through communication with the main representatives of the media and journalism.

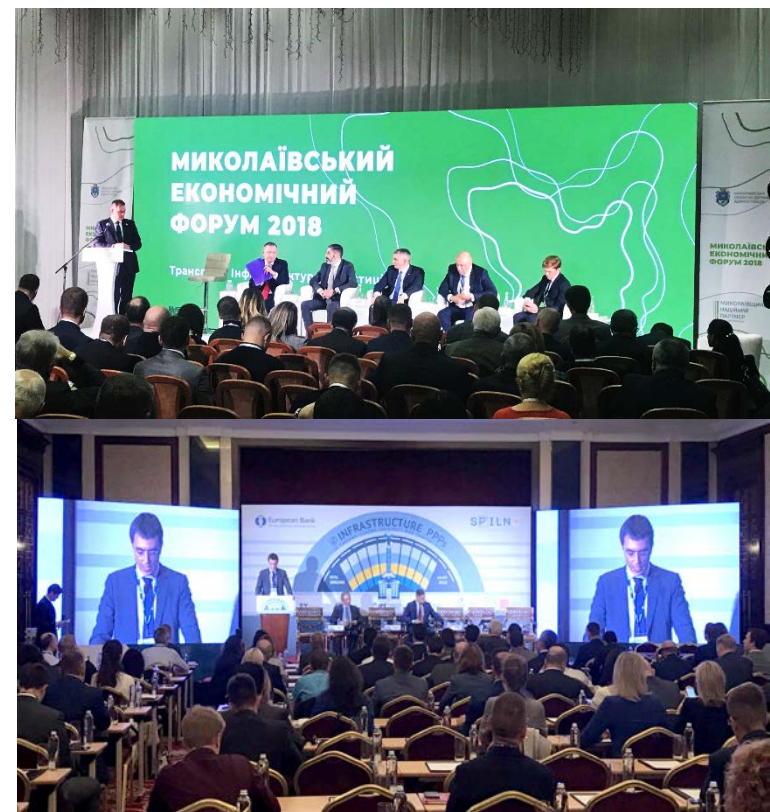

We own a large fleet of conference and exhibition equipment, all kinds of scenery and designs to decorate the location of your event, whether it be furnishing furniture, sound or light.

These are on-line stands, stands and screens, catwalks, scenes, chairs, video equipment, conference systems, simultaneous translation, voting systems, as well as all that may be needed for your event.

Rental service will give you full technical support, support and professional advice.

We host and organize online broadcasts, video bridges and live broadcasts for all kinds of events. These are webinars and conferences, presentations, exhibitions, seminars, minutes and private events.

The difference between our product and its competitors is the high quality of broadcasting, the speed of transmission, as well as the provision of important additional options and services, including the creation of a portal for broadcasts or mini-sites, registration of participants, preparation, high-quality shooting and recording by cameras of various types, mixing of pictures, video design and animation, simultaneous translation on-line, post-production and much more.

We provide the opportunity to use the services of our online platforms. Our experts will create any web-resource for your event, be it a portal, a site or a business card site. We provide hosting and lease site for various terms. We provide full coverage of the site activities throughout the term of its use, from creation and filling to archival and reporting information, provide information communication on social networks or media.

Participants of your event will be able to pay for participation, sign up, receive press releases, timings, scripted plans and any necessary information, view live broadcast, video or photo report.

Thank you for your attention!